U.S. Senate Candidate Eric Deaton Backs the Downsize DC Agenda

Eric Deaton, the Constitution Party candidate for the U.S. Senate from Ohio, has offered his full support if elected to pass the Downsize DC legislative agenda. This agenda, which is meant to help correct the major flaws in how “business is done in Washington,” includes six major bills as follows:

- * The Read the Bills Act (RTBA)
- * The One Subject at a Time Act (OSTA)
- * The Write the Laws Act (WTLA)
- * The Free Competition in Currency Act (FCCA)
- * The Enumerated Powers Act (EPA)
- * The Fiscal Responsibility Act (FRA)

Over a dozen candidates and/or incumbents currently back these bills and have also pledged to introduce or co-sponsor them in the next Congress. Each bill will accomplish in a very simple manner the intent implied by the name of the bill. Further information on the description of each bill and the full text of them can be found at <http://www.downsizedc.org/candidates/>.

“It is obvious to most Americans that the way they do business in Washington doesn’t work for our country. Their methods and processes wouldn’t work in our homes, our businesses or our churches, so why do we let them continue to destroy our nation before our very eyes?” says an exasperated Deaton. “We need to remember that we are voting for real people in the polling booth and we better know where they stand and that they have the fortitude to stick to their principles.”
